2. Fund Manager's Report

We are delighted to present to our esteemed investors the Half-Yearly Fund Management Report of the Assetline Mutual Fund (AMF) for the period April 1, 2025, to September 30, 2025.

The financial year commenced on an encouraging trajectory, driven by renewed investor optimism and favourable macroeconomic conditions that created a dynamic environment for strategic investment. The period under review witnessed notable improvements across Sri Lanka's political, economic, and financial spheres, contributing to enhanced market sentiment and stronger growth prospects.

During the review period, the Monetary Policy Board reduced the Standing Policy Rate (OPR) by 25 basis points to 7.75%, reflecting a balanced assessment of both domestic and global economic developments. Headline inflation, as measured by the Colombo Consumer Price Index (CCPI), turned positive in August 2025, marking the end of an eleven-month deflationary phase. In alignment with this policy direction, Government securities yields continued to ease across both primary and secondary markets. Fund Managers remained vigilant in monitoring interest rate movements, adopting timely and data-driven investment strategies to capitalise on opportunities and deliver superior value to investors.

The equity market maintained its upward trajectory following the 2024 presidential election, supported by renewed investor confidence and favourable macroeconomic fundamentals. Both the All-Share Price Index (ASPI) and the S&P Sri Lanka 20 Index reached record highs on multiple occasions during the review period.

A greater portion of the portfolio was allocated to Banking and Finance sector equities, reflecting optimism following the Government's decision to lift vehicle import restrictions at the start of the financial year. The prevailing low-interest-rate environment enabled banks to expand lending facilities while maintaining healthy profit margins. Enhanced policy clarity and improved fiscal discipline further strengthened domestic investor sentiment. Meanwhile, foreign participation, though modest, displayed a gradual and positive recovery. Fund Managers maintained a disciplined investment approach, ensuring compliance with regulatory requirements on liquidity and asset allocation while proactively managing and mitigating potential risks.

The external sector demonstrated resilience, supported by increased inflows from tourism and workers' remittances, despite a widening trade deficit. Continuous net foreign exchange purchases by the Central Bank helped sustain gross official reserves at USD 6.24 billion by end-September, notwithstanding ongoing external debt-servicing obligations. As a result, the Sri Lankan rupee remained broadly stable. Moreover, all three major international credit rating agencies upgraded Sri Lanka's sovereign ratings, reflecting improved creditworthiness and a stronger external position.

Strategic and prudent investment decisions during the review period enabled the Assetline Income Plus Growth Fund (AIGF) to deliver enhanced returns to investors, while maintaining sufficient liquidity to capitalise on future market opportunities. Conversely, the Assetline Income Fund (AINF) recorded a marginal decline in yield performance, primarily due to its exposure to interest rate sensitivity and adherence to liquidity management parameters.

Looking ahead, Fund Managers will continue to adopt a proactive and research-driven approach in navigating evolving market dynamics. The focus will remain on optimising returns, safeguarding investor interests, and maintaining a strong compliance framework in alignment with regulatory standards and the company's long-term strategic objectives.

Assetline Capital (Pvt) Ltd currently manages two collective investment schemes — the Assetline Income Fund (AINF) and the Assetline Income Plus Growth Fund (AIGF) — each strategically structured to meet the diverse risk profiles and investment objectives of our clientele.

The Assetline Income Fund (AINF) is positioned for investors seeking capital preservation and steady income, with a low to moderate risk appetite and a short-term investment horizon. The fund's portfolio primarily comprises Government securities, corporate debt instruments, and bank fixed deposits with maturities of less than 397 days.

Conversely, the Assetline Income Plus Growth Fund (AIGF) is designed for investors with a higher risk tolerance and a long-term investment outlook. The fund maintains a diversified portfolio encompassing Government securities, corporate debt, bank fixed deposits, and equity investments — without specific tenor restrictions — thereby offering greater flexibility to capture market opportunities and enhance long-term returns.

As of September 30, 2025, AINF and AIGF posted financial-year yields of 7.31% and 13.54%, respectively. The number of unitholders stood at 970 for AINF and 113 for AIGF. The Net Asset Value (NAV) of AINF was Rs. 9.14 billion, while AIGF amounted to Rs. 14.52 billion.

Sri Lanka's Economic Expands by 4.9% in Second Quarter of 2025.

The Department of Census and Statistics (DCS), in its communiqué issued alongside the National Accounts Estimates, reported that Sri Lanka's real Gross Domestic Product (GDP) recorded a growth rate of 4.9% in the second quarter of 2025. At constant (2015) prices, the country's GDP increased to Rs. 2,883,559 million, compared to Rs. 2,749,504 million in the corresponding quarter of 2024, reflecting continued momentum in economic recovery.

At current prices, GDP for the second quarter of 2025 was estimated at Rs. 7,362,510 million, up from Rs. 6,661,030 million in the same quarter of 2024, representing a 10.5% year-on-year increase.

Benefiting from the favorable economic conditions that prevailed over the past seven quarters, the Sri Lankan economy recorded a 4.9% expansion in the second quarter of 2025. This marks the eighth consecutive quarter of positive growth, underscoring the economy's sustained recovery from the previous downturn. The easing of vehicle import restrictions, together with relatively lower interest rates, supported stronger performance across several key sectors, including wholesale and retail trade (including motor vehicle repairs), goods and passenger transport (including warehousing activities), financial services, insurance, and taxes less subsidies on products.

Moreover, traditional growth drivers of the Sri Lankan economy, such as construction and mining and quarrying, also reported notable expansions during the quarter. Meanwhile, manufacturing activities recorded a moderate but steady increase, reflecting gradual improvements in domestic demand and external market conditions.

In terms of sectoral composition, the three major sectors of the economy—Agriculture, Industry, and Services—contributed 10.1%, 25.1%, and 52.8%, respectively, to the overall GDP, while Taxes less subsidies on products accounted for 12.0%.

All major sectors recorded positive growth during the quarter, with Agriculture expanding by 2.0%, Industry by 5.8%, and Services by 3.9%. Notably, Taxes less subsidies on products grew by 13.5%, primarily reflecting higher tax revenues arising from increased vehicle imports during the period.

Balance of Trade

Sri Lanka's external sector recorded a monthly current account deficit in September 2025, following eight consecutive months of surpluses from January to August. Despite this reversal, the current account maintained a cumulative surplus of approximately USD 1.9 billion for the first nine months of the year. The merchandise trade deficit also widened on a year-on-year basis in September, as total import expenditure surpassed USD 2 billion, driven largely by a significant increase in vehicle imports. Vehicle import expenditure alone amounted to USD 286 million in September, bringing cumulative imports of personal and commercial vehicles to USD 1.204 billion during January–September 2025. Meanwhile, the terms of trade improved year-on-year in September, supported by export prices rising at a faster pace than import prices.

CCPI Inflation of Headline and Core, YoY Basis

Source: Department of Census and Statistics

Consistent with expectations, CCPI-based headline inflation edged towards the target in September 2025.

Headline inflation, measured by the Colombo Consumer Price Index on a year-on-year (Y-o-Y) basis, returned to positive territory in August 2025 and continued its upward trend toward the inflation target in September. Headline inflation rose to 1.5% in September, from 1.2% in August, in line with the Central Bank's near-term projections. Food inflation increased to 2.9%, while Non-Food inflation eased slightly to 0.7%. On a month-on-month basis, the CCPI recorded a 0.17% increase, with contributions of 0.10 and 0.07 percentage points from Food and Non-Food categories, respectively.

Core inflation, reflecting underlying price pressures, remained unchanged at 2.0%. The quarterly average headline inflation for Q3-2025 was consistent with Central Bank projections. Looking forward, inflation is expected to gradually accelerate toward the 5% target, supported by appropriate policy measures.

Policy Rates Movements Vs AWPLR

Source: CBSL

Accommodative Monetary Policy and Interest Rate Adjustments

The Central Bank of Sri Lanka maintained an accommodative monetary policy stance following the easing cycle initiated in June 2023, reflecting over two years of policy support amid subdued aggregate demand and a low inflation environment. After the policy rate reduction in November 2024, the Central Bank adopted a brief pause, allowing market interest rates to adjust in line with the eased policy stance. As a result, the Overnight Policy Rate (OPR) was kept unchanged in January and March 2025, in consideration of projected gradual convergence of inflation toward the target, despite deflationary pressures from declining energy prices. The decision was supported by the gradual reduction in market interest rates, strong credit growth, and a resilient recovery in domestic economic activity alongside stability in the external sector.

In May 2025, the Central Bank further eased monetary policy by reducing the OPR by 25 basis points. This measure aimed to support a gradual normalization of inflation, which was expected to be slower than previously projected due to delayed electricity tariff adjustments and the potential impact of rising global uncertainties. The reduction also sought to encourage further declines in market interest rates, given the moderate pace of adjustment in most lending rates during this period.

3. Fund Performance – Assetline Income Fund (AINF)

As of 30 September 2025, the Net Asset Value (NAV) of the Assetline Income Fund (AINF) stood at Rs. 9.14 billion, with the fund achieving a financial-year yield of 7.31%. The number of unitholders increased slightly from 958 to 970 during the six-month period.

As of 31 March 2025, the NAV stood at Rs. 5.90 billion. During the six-month period, the NAV fluctuated between Rs. 5.90 billion and Rs. 13.62 billion.

The decline in yields was primarily driven by easing market interest rates, reflecting the Central Bank of Sri Lanka's accommodative monetary policy stance, continued easing of inflationary pressures, and improving investor confidence that reduced risk premiums. Despite challenging macro-financial conditions, financial system stability was maintained during the first half of 2025, enabling the continuation of measured policy rate reductions to support economic recovery. This supportive environment contributed to a sustained decline in yields across fixed-income instruments during the review period.

During the period under review, AINF managed to maintain a stable yield in line with its interest rate outlook. Most of the fund was allocated to Treasury Bills to minimize uncertainty and optimize investment opportunities, while the remainder was invested in Repos, Fixed Deposits, and money market deposits.

Fund Managers focused on delivering higher returns while mitigating risks associated with interest rate volatility. They placed 60.13% of investments in the short-term maturity bucket, anticipating potential upward rate adjustments in the latter part of the year. The remaining portion was allocated to the 6–12-month maturity bucket, ensuring adequate liquidity for unitholders.

The investment mix of AINF comprised 0.13% in money market savings accounts, 5.68% in Fixed Deposits, 70.17% in Treasury Bills, and 24.10% in Repos.

A significant portion (70.21%) of the funds under management was invested in government securities and companies with a credit rating of A+ or higher, while 29.81% was allocated to counterparties with a credit rating of A.

02 PROVISION FOR TAX RECEIVABLE

The fund has a Withholding Tax (WHT) receivable balance of Rs. 42,338,456 carried forward from periods in which the fund was liable for income tax. This balance can only be utilized if the fund becomes liable for income tax in the future. As this is unlikely, the recoverability of the balance is considered remote. Accordingly, management has decided to make a full provision in the accounts.

This has no impact on the unit price, as the unit price has always been computed excluding this balance.

4. Fund Performance – Assetline Income Plus Growth Fund (AIGF)

As of 30 September 2025, the Net Asset Value (NAV) of the Assetline Income Plus Growth Fund (AIGF) stood at Rs. 14.52 billion. The fund generated a return of 13.54% for the financial year, with the number of unitholders at the end of the review period totaling 113.

During the financial year, AIGF's yield fluctuated between -11.53% and 14.70%, primarily due to high volatility in interest rates and equities.

Sri Lanka's economy continued to recover over the past six months, supported by improved macro-financial stability, easing inflation, and an accommodative monetary policy stance. The Central Bank of Sri Lanka reduced its policy rate to 7.75% in May 2025, as inflation moved from deflation toward its 5% medium-term target. Economic growth remained positive, driven by stronger domestic demand, improved external balances, and rising investor confidence.

Falling interest rates and reduced risk premiums led to lower yields on government securities, while financial system stability was maintained with adequate liquidity and capital buffers. Private sector credit growth strengthened, reflecting improving business sentiment.

The equity market recorded robust gains over the past six months, as the CSE All-Share Index climbed by approximately 37.71% during the period amid renewed investor confidence and favourable macroeconomic dynamics. Improved policy clarity and fiscal discipline bolstered domestic momentum, while foreign participation—though still modest—began to increase more noticeably.

Over the next six months, macroeconomic conditions are expected to remain stable, with modest growth, low inflation, and continued policy support. Fixed-income yields are likely to remain low, while equity markets may post moderate gains amid improving domestic confidence.

In line with the investment objective and outlook on future interest rates, the fund's asset allocation at the end of September 2025 was maintained at 12.55% in equities and 87.40% in fixed-income securities (FIS).

Equity transactions were managed under an active investment strategy focused on market timing and selective sector exposure. Stock selections were guided by growth potential, valuation attractiveness, and dividend income prospects to optimise total returns. Fund Managers also capitalised on short-term price movements within the portfolio, realising gains through tactical trading opportunities while maintaining a balanced risk–return profile.

A portion of fixed-income holdings was maintained to ensure portfolio liquidity, with allocations to money market instruments (0.03%) and Treasury bond repos (3.21%), which provided competitive short-term returns.

The fixed-income portfolio comprised a diversified maturity structure ranging from short- to long-term instruments. Approximately 7.56% of investments matured within 1–4 weeks, 48.27% within 1–6 months, and 10.37% within 6–12 months, while 21.47% were held in securities with maturities exceeding one year.

NOTES TO THE FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

04 PROVISION FOR TAX RECEIVABLE

The fund has a Withholding Tax (WHT) receivable balance of Rs. 1,622,001 carried forward from periods in which the fund was liable for income tax. This balance can only be utilized if the fund becomes liable for income tax in the future. As this is unlikely, the recoverability of the balance is considered remote. Accordingly, management has decided to make a full provision in the accounts.

This has no impact on the unit price, as the unit price has always been computed excluding this balance.
